Northampton County Village Raises $5,050 For Its Hero

Bangor, Feb. 6.—(P)—They raised $5,050 in three months in this little Northampton county town to provide for one of their army heroes who is paralyzed from the hips down.

The idea originated with Mrs. Eleanor S. Wise, 27-year-old war widow who became the Bangor Daily News' editor during the war.

The entire community of less than 10,000 climbed on the bandwagon, and now there's a trust fund established for the GI. Pro Howard East, Jr., who is still hospitalized and in a serious condition.

The 22-year-old soldier, father of two, was wounded by shrapnel in Germany on April 18, 1945. He was returned by plane to the United States on June 5, and there followed a series of operations.

Then Mrs. Wise, whose husband, Richard, was a captain in the infantry, conceived the idea to ask civilians to give until it hurts for

CHRISTIAN M. KUHRE

Funeral services for Christian M. Kuhre, well known East Side merchant, will be held from the family home, 7 Linwood street at 2:30 p. m. Friday, conducted by Rev. E. K. Rogers, pastor of First Lutheran church, and followed by interment in Oakland cemetery.

MRS. FRANK E. COURTNEY
Minnie Maude Courtney, wife of Frank E. Courtney, died suddenly of a heart attack at 7:30 p. m. on Tuesday at her home, 104 Elm street. She was born in Tylersburg on April 30, 1874, but has resided here for the past thirty-two years. She was a faithful member of the First Free Methodist church, also of its Ladies' Bible Class.

Besides her husband, she leaves one son, Cecil, and one daughter, Mrs. Rachel Hinderer, both of Warren; two granddaughters, Ruth and Dorothy Hinderer, also of this city; one sister, Mrs. Calista Littlefield, of Cyclone, and a brother, Sherman Butler, of Tylersburg.

Removal has been made to the a soldier who gave until it did hurt.

Mrs. Wise has since given up her position as the newspaper's editor and gone to live with her husband in Lebanon. She spent two and a half years with the Daily News, supervising its editions. Bangor residents feel as if they've set a mark in per capita contributions to a cause. The total for each resident comes to somewhat more than 50 cents.

MRS. EDA GUNN
Mrs. Eda Gunn, aged 82, died at 7:45 a. m. Monday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. William Morris, 317 West Mt. Vernon street, Titusville.

She had been falling in health for 2 1/2 years, but was seriously ill only nine days. She was born March 4, 1863, a daughter of Stephen and Mary O. Adgett, and spent her long life in this community. She leaves the following children: G. A. Gunn of Tulsa, Okla., L. R. Gunn of Ozark, Mo., and Mrs. William Morris of Titusville; three grandchildren, Richard Morris and Mrs. Marian Naber of Titusville and Mrs. Paul Myrick of Stillwater, Okla.; four great-grandchildren, Nancy Morris, LeRoy and Joyce Wagner and Sue Naber of Titusville; also one sister, Mrs. Anna Wood of Titusville. She was a member of the First Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Gunn was well known in this section as she has spent many years with her niece, Mrs. Blanch Brownell, at Big Bend. She left there some days ago to visit in Titusville where she was taken ill and passed away.

The funeral services will be held Thursday at 2 o'clock from the Peterson Funeral home in Titusville and interment will be made in Titusville.

Democrats Of Area Discuss Election Plans

Treacherous condition of the highways prevented the Warren county delegation from attending a meeting of Democratic leaders from fourteen counties in northwestern Pennsylvania held at the Arlington hotel in Oil City yesterday at which time plans for the spring primary and general election were discussed.

According to the Oil City Derrick the list of visiting Democratic dignitaries was topped by J. Warren Mickle, state chairman, who presided at the meeting, and Mayor David J. Lawrence of Pittsburgh, national committeeman.

Other leaders of the party attending were: Mrs. Ruth Horting of Lancaster, state vice chairman; Mrs. Myrtle H. Beard of Reading, president of the Woman's Federation of Democratic clubs; Miss Genevieve Blatt of Harrisburg, president of the Young Democrats club of Pennsylvania; Joseph A. Donoghue of Harrisburg, chairman of the labor committee; Andrew Bradley of Harrisburg, chairman of the colored division; and Harry M. Turrell of Harrisburg, chairman of the farmers committee.

Approximately 80 persons attended the district conference which opened with a luncheon. The party representatives included the chairman, vice chairman and state committeeman from each of the 14 counties and labor delegations from Erie and Mercer counties.

C. A. Hoffman of Oil City, county chairman; Nora M. Miller of Oil City, acting vice chairman; and Maurice Splain, Jr., of Oil City, were included on the list of guests.

Agents Will Gather Here

The Purchasing Agents of Northwestern Pennsylvania will hold their February meeting on Thursday evening at the Hotel Carver, and members are advised that they may bring guests interested in the program.

B. H. Henderson, director of purchases for Westinghouse will be the principal speaker, his topic to deal with "Purchasing Profits Through Inventory Control".

Also of special interest will be a commodity discussion on steel, with emphasis on the present strike situation. This forum will be led by H. W. Ledebur, of Hammond Iron Works.

Scouter At Rotary Meet

Frank Parker, new county executive for the Boy Scouts, brought out some interesting facts for Rotarians when he addressed that group at its luncheon-meeting, basing his remarks on "Scouting Objectives".

He reviewed the history of Scouting, stressing the character building aspects of its program, and giving several interesting accounts of personal experiences in illustration of the points made. Mr. Parker also referred to the need for Scouting equipment in foreign lands and remarked that any donations of unused equipment would be gratefully accepted for this foreign distribution.

Mrs. Emmett Smith, Pittsfield RD 1, has just received word from her son, Arden, that he has been transferred to an eastern hospital and may be addressed as follows: Pfc. Arden Smith, 33633248, Cushing General Hospital, Framingham, Mass. In the same letter he sent an illustrated article from the January 20 issue of the Courier-Journal, Louisville, Ky., dealing with the wonderful new gymnasium installed at Nichols General Hospital. Pfc. Smith, one of the wounded veterans, is shown "throwing a mean punch" at a punching bag. The article states the new gym is "for the exclusive use of the paraplegic patients, those suffering from injuries of the spinal cord and having use of only those muscles above the waist. The Pittsfield soldier terms it "the best thing that has happened to me since I've been back from overseas."

Veteran Member of Elk Lodge Is Honored at P. E. R. Night

The largest gathering ever to attend a gathering at the Elk club jammed the auditorium of the building to overflowing last evening on the occasion of the first peace-time Past Exalted Ruler's night since Pearl Harbor. The event was arranged as a welcome-home for many of the 93 members who served in the armed forces and about thirty of them in attendance, and a tribute to Charles S. Kirchartz, for over 25 years tiler of the lodge until he retired last year.

Past exalted rulers conducted the business session with Claude Schindler acting as exalted ruler, and the other officers filled as follows: Leading knight, H. J. Harvey; loyal knight, Harry Christensen; lecturing knight, H. J. Onions; chaplain, Dr. D. A. Smith; esquire, H. D. Baker; secretary, R. L. Ruhlman; treasurer, A. J. Albaugh; inside guard, Devere Kirchartz; tiler, Ed Lowrey. Other performed loyally and faithfully as tiler for 26 years. I would like to tell you how old he is but when a man gets beyond 70 he does not boast so much about his age. I will say that he has been a member of Warren Lodge for 39 years, joining here in November, 1907. He has, however, been an Elk for 45 years having first affiliated with the order in Reynoldsville, November 5, 1901. During his service as tiler he attended 595 meetings of the 650 held in the 26 years. Now I did not tell you how old he is but I will give you this information, he was born May 7, 1855."

Mrs. White then presented Mr. Kirchartz with a purse of money as a gift of appreciation from the lodge. The recipient, quite surprised and overcome responded briefly.

Adjournment was then taken to the social rooms where the house committee served an elaborate luncheon, after which the entertainment committee presented a program of musical and novelty numbers.

past officers who assisted in the program was Addison White, chairman of the welcoming committee; George Sarvis, W. V. Geer and P. M. Printz, entertainment.

During the session the memorial ritual was conducted in tribute to Homer E. Mead, a member of the lodge who passed away Monday evening.

After the singing of the chorus of "God Bless America," Mr. White in a few well chosen words welcomed the veterans. "Tonight we do honor to members of the lodge who sacrificed, pleasure, home, etc., to serve their country. From Warren lodge went 93 members. Many have returned and others will be back later, but there were four who will never be in our midst again—Glenn K. Hyer, Milton Hooven, Allen Metzger and John H. Driscoll. Their loved ones have our sympathy." With the veterans standing the crowd gave them a rousing welcome.

Turning to Mr. Kirchartz, Mr. White said "We have another soldier with us tonight. He was not in the armed conflict but one who

"UNBLOCK" your DIGESTIVE TRACT

And Stop Dosing Your Stomach With Soda and Alkalizers

Don't expect to get real relief from headache, sour stomach, gas and bad breath by taking soda and other alkalizers if the true cause of your troubles is constipation.

In this case, your real trouble is not in the stomach at all. But in the intestinal tract where 80% of your food is digested. And when it gets blocked it fails to digest properly.

What you want for real relief is not soda or an alkalizer—but something to "unlock" your intestinal tract. Something to clean it out effectively—help Nature get back on her feet.

Get Carter's Pills right now. Take them as directed. They gently and effectively "unlock" your digestive tract. This permits your food to move along normally. Nature's own digestive juices can then reach it. You get genuine relief that makes you feel really good again.

FAMILIAR STATEMENTS

Postwar American history is repeating itself, the January Report of the Navy Industrial Association points out in its leading article. Popular revulsion from everything connected with war is as strong today as after the country's other major conflicts, the author of this article finds. And the discovery brings him no comfort.

So he makes some statements that are as familiar as the situation he attacks. They have been spoken to deaf ears by the Army and Navy in the years between wars. Press and public have discovered their truth in time of conflict and repeated them in chorus. But now the deafness seems to be returning.

Perhaps, then, it is well to read these familiar statements in the light of present circumstances. The Navy Industrial Association's writer has stated them well. They are, in part, as follows:

"Foreign powers have long been intense students of American history. They know that we are an outspoken, unregimented people, basically not interested in conquest or imperialism. They know that all we want, usually, is to be left to ourselves so that we can work on the problem of raising our high living standards higher.

"They know that once the shooting stops Americans regard a war as ended and that a reaction takes place against all things militaristic. They know that in years of peace we do not prepare for war because we do not want war, we do not even like to think about war. They know that a great number of Americans are going to be against military training and conscription simply because they regard war and killing as fundamentally wrong.

"They know that it is extremely easy to turn American public opinion against the military and naval systems, although Americans will always be sentimental about individual heroes.

"They know that American people have sunk more American ships than any enemy. In the wars of 1881-85 and in World Wars I and II, the United States did not get there 'first with the most.' We got there last—with the most.

"Science has set the tempo of a possible third World War and it is perfectly obvious that we cannot defend this nation by 'getting there last with the most'—we have to be there first, with the best."

The obvious flaw in all this, of course, is the failure to give any consideration to the United Nations Organization. But the omission does not necessarily imply an absence of faith, or a proposal of an armed and and suspicious isolationism.

The thoughts quoted above are those of a special pleader for the retention of a nuclear naval armament, shipbuilding and aviation industry in peacetime. Such an industry is doomed to share the unpopularity of "all things militaristic" in peacetime America. Yet the unpopular profession and industries of military science are still vital to our safety.

The organizing of the United Nations for peace does not mean that unrest has ceased, that problems are solved, that we need never fear again. When the United Nations Organization has faced the first real threat to peace and emerged triumphant, when a sincere and unquestioned willingness to disarm is evident among all of the great powers—then and only then can we safely forget such statements as those quoted here.

SPORTS BOOSTERS TO MEET

A meeting that will have far-reaching affect on future outdoor recreation and sports entertainment in Warren and vicinity is scheduled for this evening at the YMCA when the recently-formed Sports Boosters Club will hold a business session at which time it is expected that the proposed memorial stadium will be the major item for discussion.

This is the first time in many years that a large group of business and professional men have banded together to promote sports generally in the community, and it looks as though early and definite results for the good of all sports lovers will be achieved. The sponsors of the organization have the backing and aid of many returned service men and that furnishes an added incentive that helps to spell success for the venture.

While the primary object of the organization is to promote sports of all kinds, it is a well known fact that no community can progress far in the sports world without suitable facilities. It is understood that one of the chief objectives of the club will be the immediate discussion of plans to raise a fund to construct a stadium where baseball, football and other games may be staged under suitable environments for players and fans alike.

The meeting, as stated before, will be held at the YMCA, and the time is 7:30 o'clock. All interested are cordially invited to attend.

Girl Scouts are meeting with much success in their campaign to raise funds for the rebuilding of Camp Birdsell Edey. The object is a worthy one and in years to come should aid in attracting visitors into this section.

Madrid—You have not felt the pulse of Spain until you have traveled the broad highway from Madrid to the ancient city of Toledo—not that Toledo itself is any gauge, for it is largely a record of the past, but along this road you get a measure of Spanish tempo and economic position.

It is an altogether fascinating and illuminating experience as Mrs. Mack and I found on making the 57 mile trip southward from Madrid by motor. The Toledo road takes you with startling abruptness from the thronged streets of the capital into the broadly rolling Castilian plain where, as far as the eye can reach, there stretch out before you highly cultivated farm lands.

There are great areas which are sown to barley and wheat, interspersed with big fields of vegetables from which Madrid gets many of its supplies. Scattered across the plains are green groves of olive trees and almonds and vineyards.

It is a picture of intensive farming and as tidy an agricultural scene as you would find. Scarcely a foot of ground is untilled and the furrows from the winter ploughing stretch away for miles in rows so neat that they seem to be laid out by instrument.

In 1936

Keeping pace with the expansion of local industry, the Warren Planing Mill Company has purchased two lots, upon which will be built lumber storages and a brick warehouse.

Through the purchase by the Clarendon school board of a lot from Dr. I. G. Hyer, the playground facilities at the Clarendon school will be greatly enlarged.

The task of putting in the foundation for the new Paramount Furniture Company building is underway. Cold weather, however, is impeding faster progress.

"King Coal" was the topic of discussion for Life Study Club members. Art Kirby, who led the topic, stated that America could not at present do without coal, but that it would have substitutes soon.

In 1936

In order to provide sufficient amounts of food for the deer herd in Warren and Forest counties, CCC workers and sportsmen distributed many shocks of corn in the wooded areas.

Warren was "chopping out" after a paralyzing sleet and snow storm during the night. Streets and sidewalks were covered with large slush deposits turned into ice.

Students of Beatty school will present "Rip Van Winkle" at the high school auditorium. This story needs no introduction, and the play is reported a fine form of entertainment.

When Warren and Kane battle here Friday, it will be the 29th meeting of the two quintets in the last two decades. Sheffield High, boasting a very good team, trounced Ridgway, 35-22.

WHAM! A DIAMOND TO SIX NO TRUMP!

BY WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority

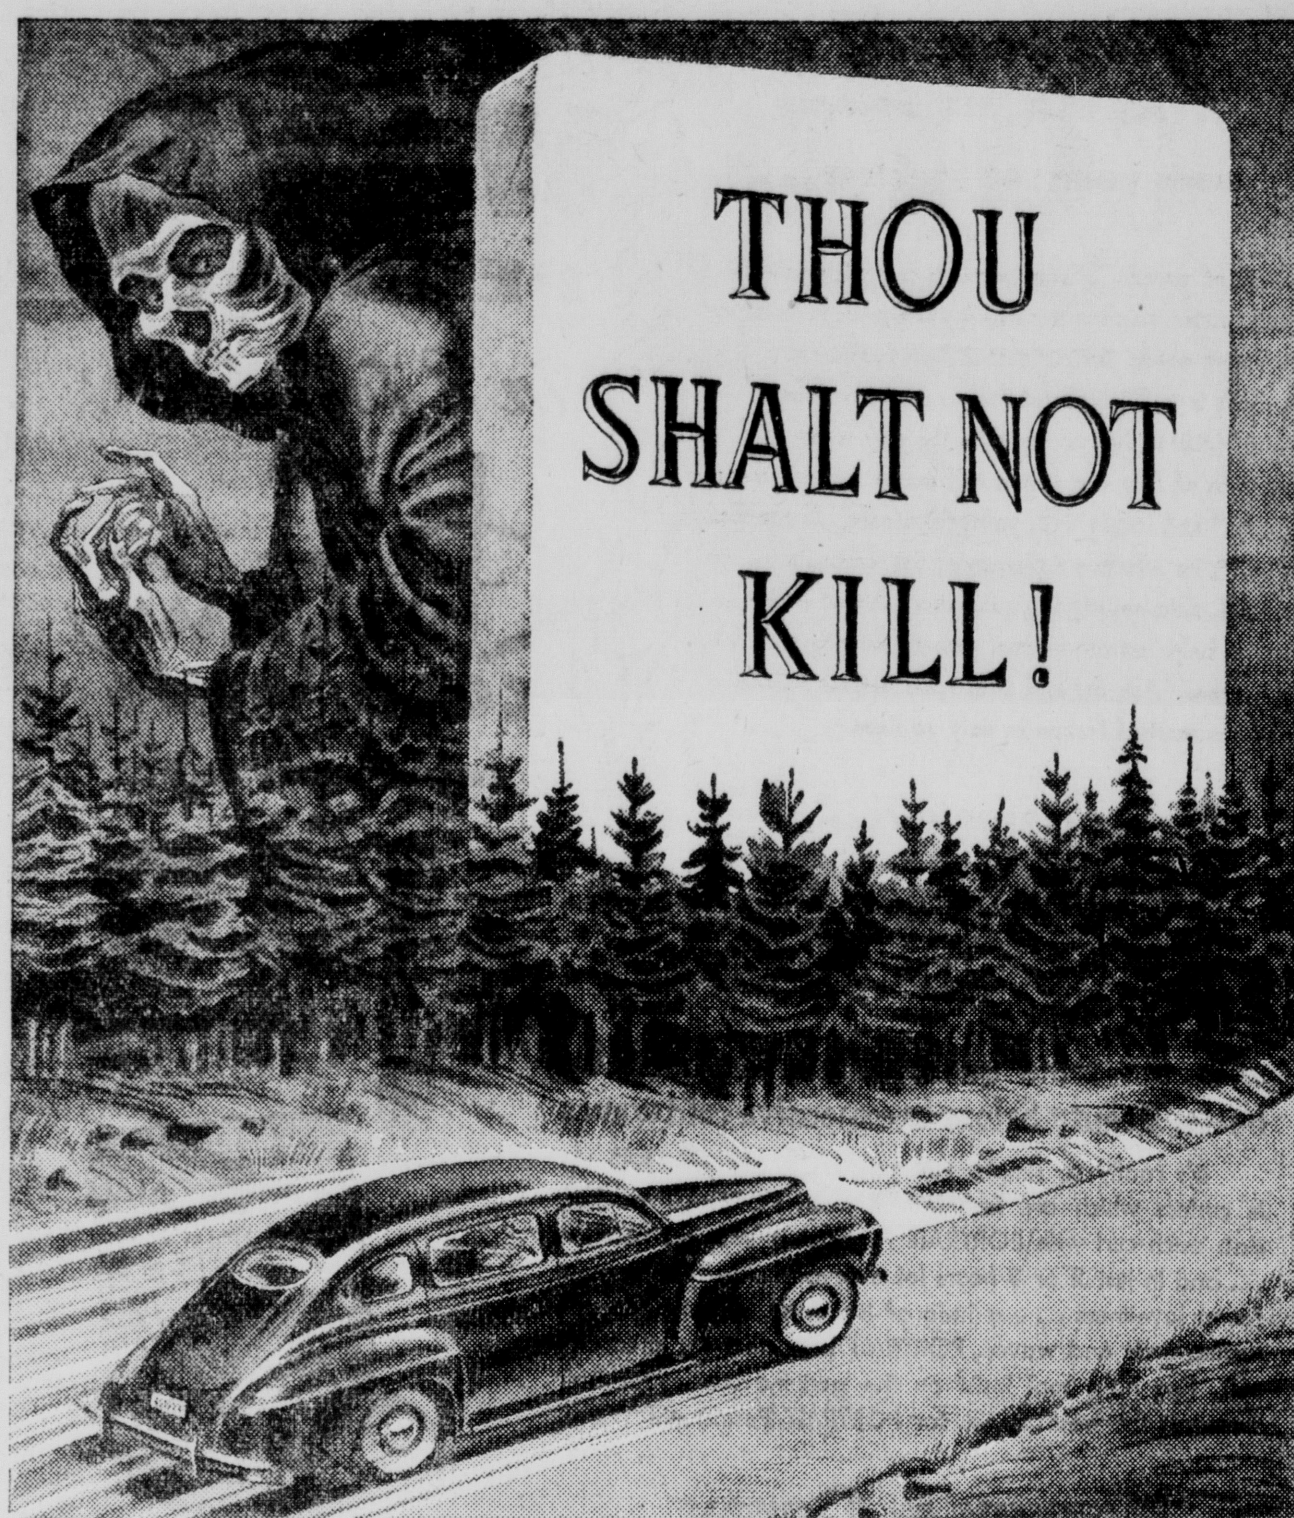

For several years, Mrs. Helen Sobel of New York has been ranked as the No. 1 woman bridge player of the world, and also outstanding among men. Another great woman player is Mrs. Wilkin Wagner of Atlanta, Ga. When these two play together, it is a combination hard to beat. During the national women's team - of - four championship, I watched them play a hand or two. I certainly wot a lot of action on this one.

Mrs. Wagner opened a rather light hand, and I was amazed when Mrs. Sobel jumped to six no trump. Even with several favorable breaks, it did not seem possible to make that contract; but she did. She won the opening lead with the king of clubs and played the diamond queen, West winning. The five of hearts was returned and Mrs. Sobel finessed the jack, which held—break number one.

She overtook the nine of diamonds with dummy's ten, cashed the ace, and East and West followed for break number two. She discarded a club from her hand on the diamond eight and finessed the jack of spades for break number three.

A club was led to dummy's ace and the lead of the seven of diamonds squeezed West, who was down to the king-ten of spades and queen-ten-eight of hearts. If West discarded the ten of spades, Mrs. Sobel could win the last three spade tricks; if the eight of hearts was discarded, the ace-king-nine of hearts would be established for Mrs. Sobel.

THOU SHALT NOT KILL!

When those sacred words become the safety motto of every driver—traffic tragedies will end.

When the value of human life is gauged by the heart and mind—not by the speedometer—killing and maiming on our streets and highways will cease.

And the toll steadily is mounting

Thousands of people sacrificed to bad driving judgment. Recklessness. The mania to get "there" fast. That extra drink or two. Driving a car not fit to operate.

It must stop—NOW

Human life is too precious to be sacrificed on the savage altar of carelessness. YOU—the driver and the walker—must ring down the curtain on this tragedy of sorrow and pain.

President at Critical Cross-Roads in His Administration

BY JAMES BARLOW
Washington, Feb. 6—(P)—President Truman is at one of the critical crossroads of his administration. You're involved in it, too, seriously.

It's a triple problem he had to handle: the steel strike, price control and inflation.

A White House spokesman, recognizing that these three things which affect our future are closely linked, said:

"You can't divorce the steel strike from the nation's general economy." This statement was made after Mr. Truman had talked in relays with the top government advisors Saturday.

Take the triple problem step by step:

The steel strike, over higher wages, is crippling reconversion and will paralyze it if the strike lasts long enough. Mr. Truman asked the CIO and the U. S. Steel Corporation, weathered for the industry, to settle for a wage increase of 18 1/2 cents an hour.

The CIO accepted although it had been asking an increase of 25 cents an hour.

The U. S. Steel Corporation refused, saying it could grant a raise of no more than 15 cents an hour. The strike started right there.

Since he has named 18 1/2 cents an hour as the settlement figure, the president can't very well back down from that.

The U. S. Steel Corporation, after the strike started, took this stand:

If it is going to grant a wage increase of 18 1/2 cents an hour the government must allow it to increase the price of steel more than $6.25 a ton.

(The government's policy to prevent runaway prices is this: wage increases, if they mean price increases, can't be granted without government approval.)

OPA has checked the steel industry's figures and says it should be allowed a price increase of only $2.50 a ton.

Latest reports from within OPA say it would be willing to allow a steel price increase up to $4 a ton—but no more—as a compromise gesture.

But it is reported, on extremely reliable authority, that reconversion director Snyder thinks it would be all right to give the steel companies more than $4 a ton.

So Mr. Truman has to consider this:

How much will U. S. Steel settle for in the way of a price increase to end the strike and give the 18 1/2 cent wage increase? $4 a ton? more than $4 a ton? how much more than $6.25?

If steel prices go up, that means the cost of steel will be higher for a great many industries which use steel. They'll be a pinch then to demand higher prices for themselves.

If U. S. Steel gets a big increase, other industries which don't use steel at all can come in and demand that what's fair for U. S. Steel should be fair for them.

Pretty soon the price rise—or the demand for a price rise—might become general and that would come in the government's whole effort to prevent inflation by keeping prices down.

A general price rise means inflation. It means your dollar won't be worth what it's worth now. It won't buy as much.

It's this saving in of the price line which OPA's Bowles fears and has been fighting against.

OPA "Profit Control" Root Of Strikes and Economic Difficulties, Says Rep. Gavin

Washington, Feb. 6—(P)—Rep. Gavin (R-Pa.) believes OPA "profit control" is at the root of the nation's "strikes and economic difficulties."

Gavin told a reporter that workers deserve wage increases, but that industry must be granted price raises to cover them. Otherwise, he said, industry cannot function to relieve shortages.

He said:

"These shortages, coupled with a tremendous volume of purchasing power, are a greater invitation to inflation than the price increases which would enable industry to meet the shortages."

Gavin took this position to the floor of the house last week during debate on restrictive labor legislation.

He said that "hold-the-line" policies of OPA, designed to force industry to absorb a varying percentage of additional costs for labor or materials makes it impossible for industry to grant the increases and make a fair profit, or even escape losses.

He declared: "This program, if they continue their profit controls rather than price controls, will wreck the country."

"At OPA they tell us that industry, marketer, and distributor must absorb the increased cost and sell at 1942 prices. Well, if industry must absorb it, there will not be any industry if there is no profit in business. It is simply an impossibility and the reconversion program won't amount to much and strikes will continue."

Gavin attacked OPA claims of having held down prices, asserting: "The whole picture is a mental delusion. We are only kidding ourselves about holding down prices cost. We have jumped the Commodity Credit Corporation to $4,750,000,000 in the past year so that they could pay subsidies to producers, x x x The American people will either pay through slightly higher prices or pay taxes to meet this $4,750,000,000. There is not much difference either way, x x x."

"We have just forestalled paying the bill."

"Who is going to pay it? Instead of the people who had security here at home, we will ask the boys to return from the wars, take off their coats, and get out and find a job and earn the money to pay for that which we have spent."

Many Receive Old Age Aids In This Area

5776 monthly old-age and survivors insurance benefits were in force at the end of 1945 in the area served by the Erie office of the Social Security Board. Approximately $113,343 is paid out monthly to men, women and children of this area, Mr. Ervin said. In giving his estimates, which are subject to minor revision, Mr. Ervin said that the increase over the year in benefits in force amounted to about 40 per cent.

The service area of the Erie office includes Crawford, Erie, Venango and Warren counties.

The number in the different classes of beneficiaries and the monthly benefits amounts were approximately as follows:

Retired workers, aged 65 or over 2518, $62,389.18.

Wives, 65 or over, of retired workers, 769, $11,211.52.

Widows with young children, 580, $11,665.76.

Children of deceased or retired workers, 1479, $19,562.17.

Aged widows of workers, 408, $8,313.75.

Aged dependent parents of deceased workers who left no widow or child under 18, 22, $294.89.

In addition in the last quarter of 1945, $19,752.27 in lump-sum payments were made.

Mr. Ervin said that a marked increase in the number of applicants for old-age and survivors insurance benefits following the end of the war had been anticipated. Many persons who have been eligible for benefits have delayed filing in order to help out in the war industries and other important tasks. Their retirement in increasing numbers is expected.

"I should like to pass on a word of advice or caution to those persons who are not forced by advancing age to retire, but who are beyond the age of 65 and are giving the question thoughtful consideration," Mr. Ervin said. "It is: Call at the local office of the Social Security Board. It may be advantageous for you to file your claim at once. The people at the office can help you. They will do it gladly."

METZGER-WRIGHT'S

The Fall Guy

BY JOE BARRY

Chapter 3

RUSH's thoughts were a little mixed up by the scene of a few minutes earlier and it was a full fifty seconds before he realized he wasn't alone. Then he looked up to find a tall, dark, ministerial gentleman, walking beside him. Rush raised a questioning eyebrow.

"I thought you could satisfy my, perhaps, crude curiosity," the rumbling tones seemed to come from a point somewhere below the spare thorax of the thin one. "I was standing next to you back there."

Rush's "ummm" was noncommittal.

"Yes, I thought you might be able to answer several questions that come to my mind."

"What questions?" Rush was nothing if not direct.

"The police now, what steps will they take to learn the man's identity?"

Rush was slightly surprised.

"Why, if the guy has a tie in the world, they'll place him."

"I see."

"They had come abreast of Barney's," Rush's destination. He stopped and turned to his companion. "This is where I was heading. I'll see you around." He turned to enter the bar. The man looked up and noticed the character of the place and followed him to the door.

"Since you've been so kind to an inquisitive old man perhaps you'd allow me to buy you a drink."

Rush looked at him for a second and then grinned ruefully to himself. "Sure, fella, come on in. I'll have a eye on you."

The drinks came and Rush took a long swallow of his rye. He needed that. He looked across the dim booth at his companion. That one seemed to be struggling with himself. He finally decided in the affirmative.

"Perhaps you are wondering why I am so curious about the distressing occurrence up the street."

"Well—" Rush said.

"I've been wondering whether to tell you something that may be of value."

"Shouldn't you tell it to the police?" asked Rush.

"That may be. That is what I would like to ask you. I know so little about these things and you seem to be quite familiar with the procedure."

"Thank you," Rush grinned without humor.

"It is something I saw. I was standing several doors away from the alley for at least fifteen minutes before the crime was discovered. Five minutes before the discovery a short, swarthy man—he looked to be foreign in origin, Italian, perhaps—came out of the alley. He looked quickly both ways and walked rapidly south on State Street." He paused and looked questioning at Rush.

"Do you think I should say anything to the police?"

"Yes," Rush's seriousness was a model of overacting. "Yes, by all means. The police must be told. I'd go to them right away."

In the edge of his field of vision Rush saw Merwin come through the front door. He made a veiled sign to him to stay away.

"I'll do it. I'll go to them right away. You've made me see that it is my duty." The tall, dark man rose to go. "Thank you very much for your time, Mr. —"

"Henry, Rush Henry, and it's been a pleasure, Mr. —"

Rush caught him off balance and he obviously fished. "Ah, Miller, Otto Miller."

"Yes, it's been a pleasure, Mr. Miller. I'm sure we'll meet again."

Rush followed him as far as the bar and said a final farewell. He stood there waiting till the door closed behind Mr. Miller, then he swung on Merwin.

"Tail him. Run him to ground and let me know where he sits. If you need any help phone Hogan and take tricks with him; Now, beat it and don't lose him!"

Merwin was sometimes slow but he knew an order when he heard one and this was his man. "No more, Barney," he said, the barkeep hovered near the rye bottle. "I have to eat anyone phones, I'm across street eating."

RUSH walked across the street to the restaurant and ordered dinner. His order in, he was back to the cashier's counter, picked a Tribune from the stack of papers on one side. Back his table he propped it against sugar bowl and began a car reading. He got as far as col one, page one. It read—

SON OF WEALTHY FAMIL FOUND DEAD

Scion of Pioneer Chicago Family Found Stabbed In Alleyway

July 19 (Tribune Service) body found in the alley at — State Street at 4:05 P. M. identified by papers as Paul Joseph St. John Germaine, Jr., of P. J. St. J. Germaine, Sr., of the brokerage firm bearing name.

Rush's eyes went. no furt He searched his mind for clue of identity in the convention of the afternoon. There none. Paul Germaine, Jr., been scrupulously careful no give any hint as to his background. A wave of unreason anger swept over Rush. An not at himself, but at the young man who had read Journey's End in an alley. V had he felt it necessary to games with Rush? Why the vag easiveness, the over myster hints at valuable articles, shadowy threats? Rush shook head angrily and thrust the per aside. It wasn't his probl Carnahan would take over here on out.

A man touched Rush's shoulder.

"Phone, Mr. Henry."

TELEPHONE INSTRUMENTS are not our only worry

Telephone instruments are coming through fine . . . at the rate of about 3,000,000 a year for the Bell System as a whole.

We may even be able to offer extensions later in the year, because extensions don't need new lines to the central office nor central office equipment. They are hooked up to lines and equipment already in place.

IT'S THE OTHER EQUIPMENT THAT HOLDS THINGS UP.

Intricate and delicate central office equipment has to be built and tested and installed and re-tested before new telephones can be added.

Right now, for example, only 198 out of 448 Bell central offices in Pennsylvania are able to meet new service demands without additional central office equipment.

But even with all the telephone instruments we can possibly use, and even with all the central office equipment we need, there still remains the tremendous job of building what we call the "outside plant."

This is the vast network of cables and wires that connects every telephone everywhere with its central office—and with all other telephones.

This is the ditches and the poles and the digging and splicing and laying and stringing and testing.

And now it's under way. Our $150,000,000 expansion program is going to do for Pennsylvania—for you—what the Bell System's two-billion-dollar expansion program is going to do for America as a whole. It's going to give you the finest telephone service you can imagine . . . as much and as often as you need it.

Here are

THE THREE OBJECTIVES

of our

EXPANSION PROGRAM

1. To end all waiting lists for telephone service.
2. To provide the people of this State—city people and farmers—with finer and finer telephone service.
3. To make available the many new developments in communication, pioneered by the Bell Telephone Laboratories.
